RANK

7 Birk Faxen is getting better and better for each race. Was really nice when he won by a wide margin from the lead two starts back. If he reaches the front after a while, he is definitely the horse to beat. 3 Sambucca Ø.K. got a nice trip from the back of the leader in the seasonal debut and could score the first win of his career. Early contender again here. 8 Stjerne Vind is doing well but has a disappointing lane. 10 Heggmyrs Lagertha is not reliable, but has good capacity.

11 Weekend Vibe has really impressed since he came to Norway. Galloped in the last race though. Could get revenge here even if this lane is tricky. 1 Heartbreak Hotel has shown good speed. Came back well after a mistake in the seasonal debut and faces nice conditions. Early contender. 2 Kickback could be dangerous from here. 15 Holly Winner was good as a 3-year-old, but had a mediocre season last year. Won nicely in the last race mot easy opponents.

2 Karmland Lukas won in impressive style in the last race when he disappeared from his rivals after a trip from the pocket. Develops with every start and seems reliable. 6 Grisle Best G.L. is making his seasonal debut, but did really well last year. He was one of the outsiders in the Norwegian Coldblood Derby. Has to be considered. 5 Frikar is not easy, but has very high speed and good capacity. 3 Horg Blessen galloped in the lead over the home stretch and met Karmland Lukas then.

2 Millthalia was a bit slow in the last race but still finished well. Has good speed and capacity. In the mix. 4 Nikita Boko has done well during the winter. Tight starts now could be an advantage. Has been second from the lead in the last two starts. Early contender. 6 Petite Papillon has very high capacity. 1 Quarry Tile is a quick starter and won from the lead over the current distance last time.

3 Eld Rapp never had a real chance last time but finished strongly a bit behind the leader. Tight starts is always interesting. Good chance for Tom Erga's winning machine. 6 Ness Tjo Tyr makes his seasonal debut and probably won't be in top form yet, but has good capacity. 7 Bjørkejerv is not reliable and might prefer the short distance. Has good speed though. 8 Skeie Blesen has competed in tough fields lately. Poor draw.

2 Canopus is consistent and is one of the better horses in Norway. Perfect starting position and Frode Hamre's trotter will certainly reach a nice position. Will probably not find the lead but uses to finish strongly. 4 Jackson Avery is a very quick starter and over this distance, he could lead the race from start to finish. 1 Deep Sea Lucky is a winning machine, but now she faces tougher opposition. 3 Super Winner has been consistent against the elite.
