6 Le Roi finished really well the final half lap to a second place last time. Interesting lane here together with Stefan Persson. From start to finish? 1 Chocolatemere decided easily at Mantorp and showed good form. Top driver again and certainly gets a nice trip. Challenger. 12 New Lane did well behind horses in the V75 at Östersund. Could get a nice start with this number. Has to be considered here. 2 Hattivatti has made one start for trainer Markus B Svedberg. Outsider.

8 Pure Athena is on the way up and has looked very nice at the end. Easy victory from the lead last time. Can win this in different ways. Our pick. 1 You Bow to No One couldn't resist Pure Athena the last time they met (December 4th). Will go for the front this time. Challenger. 2 Cala Karamell is promising and can do better than last time. Gets a defensive trip here and should not be overlooked. 6 Global Got it All finished fast at Axevalla. American bike now!? Contender.

12 Mary Wadd has really found top form and scored two wins in the last three starts. Beat a good horse last time and only meets mares this time. Our pick. 8 Selective Calling took her first win of the year when she disappeared from the lead last time. Is certainly driven offensively again. Challenger. 9 Smiley Brodda has made two starts for trainer Hanna Forslin and is looking better and better. Gets a defensive trip here. Outsider. 7 French Omelette is consistent and good. Could cause a surprise.

6 Fetter Tir comes from a fine finish at Örebro. Is in good form and might be able to drive to the lead here. Our pick. 2 Börtas Ankare put in a strong final lap last Wednesday. Is strong and has the right attitude. Interesting with Niclas Benzon this time. Challenger. 12 Fairplay has been good in two consecutive starts for trainer Christoffer Eriksson (race under the saddle most recently). Would prefer quick pace. Has to be considered. 1 Quintus Tooma can do better than in the last race (did not like the track?). Contender.
